

Salesgirls To Flood Campus '62 Annuals On Sale Monday

Westward Ho!

These three track stars are getting set to leave for Toronto. Not wishing to find that there will be no room for them on the crowded train, they left yesterday from Molson Stadium, running in a westerly direction. Sales today were fantastic and already about 200 students have purchased tickets at the Union. This represents a 30% increase over last year's sales. No tickets can be bought at the station, so dash down to the aged Union immediately with your $13.

NFCUS Plans Soviet Tours

A meeting between representatives of the National Federation of Canadian University Students and of the Students' Council of the Union of Soviet Socialist Republic may result in the broadening of educational and cultural exchanges between the two countries.

In a report prepared by the NFCUS International Affairs Vice-president, Paul Becker, it is noted that the reciprocal tours of student representatives might be expanded to include up to 20 students from each country. The Soviet visitors would come to this country in either the fall, or the spring and the Canadian tours would probably be limited to the summer months.

This year's tour by Canadian students had to be cancelled because of poor response.

FUTURE TOURS

The Soviet delegates, Alexander Lebedev, and Yuri Mashin, also expressed the hope that future tours could be handled through the new tourist agency of the Committee of Youth Organizations, Sputnik, rather than through the Intourist Bureau.

The NFCUS-USSR meeting took place over Thanksgiving weekend in Ottawa.

The two Soviet students also proposed that exchanges of performing artists should take place between NFCUS and the Students' Council. They suggested that it might be possible to arrange such exchanges without any cost to either NFCUS or the Students' Council.

3 OTHER TYPES

Three other types of student exchanges were discussed in principle. They are: inter-faculty exchanges; inter-university exchanges; general exchanges arranged by the two national student unions.

As an example of the first, it was suggested that an arrangement be sought between the Faculty of Architecture at the University of Toronto, and the corresponding division at Lomonosov University in Moscow.

The proposal of the World University Service of Canada committee at the University of British Columbia to receive a Soviet student in 1962-63 was noted by the meeting, and was regarded as the pilot project under the general agreement.

The interest of the University of King's College, Halifax, in exchange with the Soviet Union was also noted and NFCUS agreed to explore these possibilities further with the authorities of King's College.

Students' Apathy Noted At Elections

Elections for ASUS representatives were held yesterday, although only about 20% of those students eligible cast their ballots.

The new representatives are: First Year, James Hammersley; Second Year, Charles Dalfen; Third Year, Gordon Naimer.

The permanent class executive, previously elected by acclamation from fourth year students, is: President, Sam Wex; Vice-president,

"Your memories of this college year will live forever" denotes the theme of "Old McGill '62", the 65th yearbook recording memorable events in the life of the McGill campus and her students. Freshman reception, exciting football games (and the week-ends), jam packed public debates, and the Winter Carnival are just a few of the many varied events pictured in this year's Annual.

Like last year, there will be one sales campaign, October 30-November 4. Salesgirls, wearing bright red and white badges, will be wandering around campus next week. To launch the week long sales campaign, an opening ceremony will be held Monday at 12:15 pm inside the Roddick Gates with Mr. Justice G. Miller Hyde, President of the Graduate Society, several staff members, and the salesgirls. The opening will be centred around a display of 1962 Chevrolets, compliment of Chevrolet Motor Sales.

HEADQUARTERS

From Tuesday until Friday, a large Morgan's Van Line will be stationed inside the Gates and will act as the central sales booth on campus. Salesgirls will be there as well as Annual staff, and the main feature will be a display of past year's copies of "Old McGill", as well as yearbooks from other universities. This four day display will be an excellent opportunity for all students to see what the Annual is and how it covers the entire school year.

LUCKY DRAWS

This year incentives for those buying Annuals have been introduced. Publicity Manager, Bruce Clemons, has arranged lucky daily draws to be made during the campaign, and on November 4 a grand draw will be held. Featured among the draws will be gifts from Birks and Morgans and a "dream date". This will be dinner for two on November 6 at the Berkeley Hotel followed by an evening at Her Majesty's Theatre to see the musical comedy, "Bye, Bye, Birdie".

BIG PRIZE

At the end of the week a draw from all sales will be held, and the winner will receive two week-end return tickets to Toronto via Canadian Pacific Airlines as well as theatre tickets. In addition, general prizes are being awarded to the men's and women's fraternities having the highest percentage of their members buying "Old McGill '62".

Nancy Cavanagh, Sales Manager of this year's Annual and 1961 Carnival Queen, is confident that her team of salesgirls will exceed last year's total sales.

LARGE STAFF

An even larger staff than usual has been assembled to work on the '62 Annual. The policy of internal promotion has been continued this year, but at the same time many new people have been recruited.

Patt Mars, Editor-in-Chief, was a previous Sports Editor and Managing Editor. Associate Editor, Jean Mitchell, and Managing Editor, Terry Murphy, were Clubs and Societies, and Publicity Editors respectively.

Several of the new staff members had experience working on their high school annuals and should bring many new ideas to this year's publication.

Arts and Science To Meet Faculty At Series Of Dinners

The first of a proposed series of student-faculty dinners, sponsored by the Arts and Science Undergraduates Society, will take place on Tuesday, October 31, at 7:15 pm in the Union cafeteria.

The ultimate aim of these dinners is to achieve closer relation with the members of the faculty, not only on an intellectual level, but also on an informal and social level. A special committee of the SEC was formed last year to investigate possible methods of achieving this end, but so far little has been done.

The ASUS executive feels that an informal dinner, with six professors and approximately forty students, will give the best results. The evening will begin with a dinner, with several students and a professor at each table. This will afford an opportunity for both the students and the professor to engage in free and open discussion on any subject of their particular interests.

Following this, there will be a panel discussion in which the six professors will take part, and the opinions of the students will be welcomed.

The success of this venture depends upon the cooperation and interest of the student body. To insure that both the faculty and the students receive the maximum benefit from the meeting, only a limited number of students will be able to attend.

Invitations will be given on a "first-come-first-served" basis. Posters will be up in the Arts building, the Biology Building, and the PSC.

Interested students should sign the list and those invited will be so informed by an ad in Monday's Daily.

Dr. Bull To Address Rocket Society On Space Research

Dr. G. Bull, newly appointed to the staff of the Mechanical Engineering Department at McGill, will speak to the Rocket Society today at 1 pm in the McConnell Engineering Building, Room 204.

Before coming to McGill, Dr. Bull spent ten years working on space ballistic missiles at the Canadian Armament Research and Development Establishments and is presently doing hypersonic impact research.

He will speak on Laboratory Space Research in Canada and will show slides on various exceptionally interesting experiments.

OCTOBER 26, 1961

Too Dear A Price

The new plan also brings to light the narrower problem of whether a union should be run by students or by the university. The former offers two big advantages. In the first place, a students' union should be the force which draws together diverse campus groups.

A student-run union can produce this effect since students will feel that it is the one place on campus which belongs to them. On the other hand, their attitude towards a university-controlled union will not be appreciably different from their attitude towards any other building on campus.

The second point involves the purpose of the union, which is to provide students with service and facilities for their extracurricular activities. A student manager will react more quickly than any other type of person to the needs of his fellow students. He is in the best position to know the probable effect of different policies and will consequently be able to take the most beneficial line of action.

The Senate Committee On Development report which outlines the specific plans for McGill's massive building program, contains a recommendation which could destroy our form of student government, reducing its level of effectiveness to that of a primary school's student council. The report says: "... the Committee recommends that a University centre (new Union), under the control of the University, be constructed..." This proposal has been approved by the Board of Governors.

If this is one of the conditions attached to the construction of a new Union, then we are better off in our overcrowded situation where we still manage our own affairs.

The basis of the autonomy of the McGill Students' Society is its control over the Union. Student activities can be run effectively by students because we ourselves operate the physical facilities in which these activities take place. If the SEC, our executive organ, is forced to compromise its power and finds it must submit to the decisions of the University-appointed manager, our whole concept of student government will deteriorate.

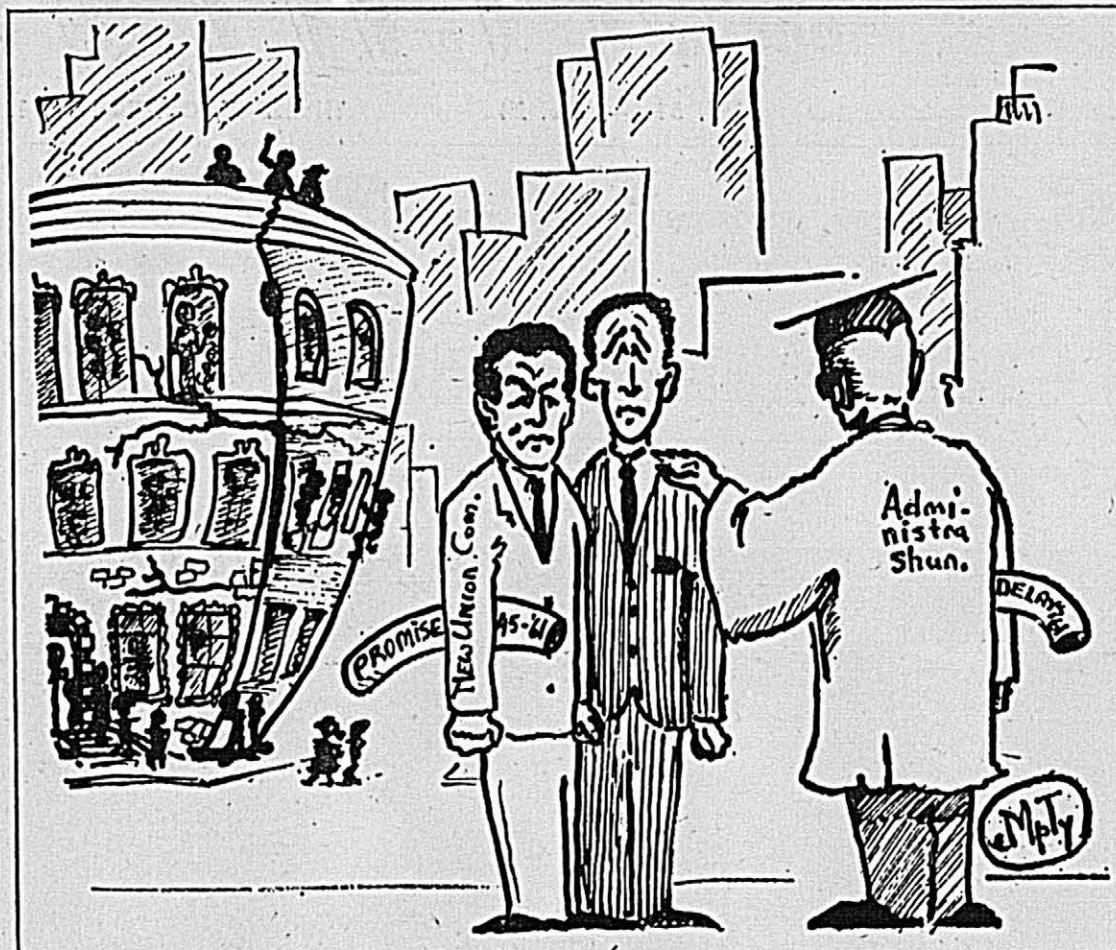

We have been able to govern ourselves in a mature and able manner only because we have been given complete responsibility for our actions. Once a watchdog is appointed to oversee our most important activity, the motivation behind our adult approach to student government will disappear.

A non-student manager may have the most admirable of intentions, but, because he views the function of a union in a perspective different from those who are actively using the union, there will undoubtedly be occasions when his policy will prevent students from making optimum use of the building.

We must also consider the fact that the role of the Union has changed considerably since our ancient edifice was first constructed. Had it not been the case that each year the new executive took a fresh look at the problems, it would have been impossible for the Union to keep up with the times. A permanent management would be very reluctant to make the minor changes which are essential to the functioning of the union.

We need a new union but as things stand now the price is too dear.

... Perhaps some space on the Gault Estate?

Point Of View

The Function Of A Union

Yesterday's article outlined five main purposes or aims of a good Students' Union. Today I will consider some of the physical properties a good Union must have in order to fulfill its role on the campus.

Considering that a first class Students' Union must be the focal point of the student's university life, it is immediately apparent that its geographic position can only be at the centre or focal point of the university's campus. The farther away the Union is from this site, the less effective will it be as the hearthstone of the university.

As a facility for the development and broadening of the mind, the Students' Union should be spacious with easy traffic flow and interconnecting areas that will encourage the student to move about in the building and see what other clubs, groups, and individuals are doing. In this way, students will learn quickly of other activities, and will tend to move in on discussion groups and other informal gatherings. The layout of our present Union is good in this respect (for seven hundred students). However, a multi-storied Union would be completely contrary to this commonly accepted principle. Students would enter the building, go to a particular floor, (after finally getting on the elevator), and never know what was happening above or below them. A good internal design for a Students' Union is a tremendous architectural problem, and only the finest architects should be employed to find the solutions.

In summing up, this "Philosophy on a Students' Union", it might be worthwhile to pause for a minute to consider McGill's situation. Many years have passed since our Board of Governors were students, and, in those days, the Students' Union existed as a very fine club. It is by

WILLIAM G. HUTCHISON
(Second of two articles)

quite natural, therefore, that some of those now considering McGill's development program, while agreeing upon the urgency of a New Union, still feel that a good Students' Union would be a luxury on the campus.

When our superiors attended McGill, she had far fewer students than today, therefore, it may be difficult to realize the necessity of a dynamic Union as a centre of fortification of student spirit and participation. Today, no university of McGill's size and quality deserves to exist as an institution of learning if it does not sincerely believe in and support a first class Students' Union. If our Board of Governors believed this, and were fully aware of a Union's true role on the campus, I am convinced we would not hear that now there is no room for the Union on the campus, and that the future Union will have to be located on its existing site.

Novice Debating Trials To Commence At Union

The Debating Union Novice Trials begin today in the Walter M. Stewart Room. Today they will be held from 12 to 3 pm and on Friday from 1 to 4 pm.

Topics for the debate are: "Resolved that labour organizations should be under the jurisdiction of anti-trust legislation"; "Resolved that separatism for Quebec is inevitable"; "Resolved that gambling should be legalized"; "Resolved that Columbus made a mistake". Speeches must be five minutes long.

LAST OPPORTUNITY

Jack Brandes, Chairman of the Novice Training Program, stated that "this is the last opportunity for novices to show their speaking skill to a judge before the selection of the Intercollegiate Novice Team. All novices are therefore urged to participate."

Joel Bell, Chairman of Intercollegiate Debating, and Brandes will act as judges for the Trials. For further information please contact the Debating Union office.

The Debating Union also announced plans for a public debate next Thursday, November 2, when two Intercollegiate Debaters from Harvard University will meet two McGill Senior Debaters. They will dispute the topic: "Resolved that this house would rather surrender to Russia than risk the destruction of humanity in a nuclear war".

WUSC Begins Season Cocktails Served Today

The McGill committee of the World University Service of Canada (WUSC) will initiate another year of activity with an informal cocktail party to be held today at the Sigma Alpha Mu fraternity house.

Among the invited guests are three students studying at McGill under WUSC scholarships. They are Mohammed Djedour, from Algeria; Winnifred Ajanru, from Nigeria; Satoshi Saito, from Japan.

UWO Students' Council Investigates Behaviour

LONDON (CUP) Student misconduct during the McGill-Western football weekend in Montreal October 14 is going to be intensively investigated by the Students' Council at the University of Western Ontario.

"The Judicial Committee of the University Students' Council will open investigation into the events of the weekend, October 26", Bill Schwarz chief prosecutor of the USC said. The committee had been commissioned to inquire into the validity of "certain rumours concerning the weekend of October 14". The committee will attempt to establish exactly what events detrimental to the university actually did take place.

MANAGER COMPLAINS

The manager of the Queen's Hotel in Montreal had complained of fire hoses ripped from their cases, students running through the halls screaming "fire", removal of the electric exit signs, damaged carpets, telephones pulled from the walls, and students racing up and down fire escapes.

He said several students were evicted from the hotel on Saturday night.

USC President Mike Hamilton stated last night that persons who have caused this degradation to the name of the university should be expelled or suspended.

OPEN LETTER

He went on to say that the students responsible for the situation are not fit to be students of Western. In an open letter to the student body, he asked for the complete support, both moral and practical, of the entire student body in disciplining those responsible.

The Judicial Committee will investigate the widely differing accounts of the weekend, study reports of actual damages done, if any, in the Queen's Hotel, and on the Canadian National Railways train, and by separating rumour from fact, will arrive at a comprehensive picture.

Schwarz said that ten students have been requested by the committee to give testimony. Other students with any pertinent information are also requested to attend, he said. Schwarz pointed out that the co-operation of the entire student body will be necessary if a successful conclusion to this matter is to be reached and future recurrence prevented.

DISASTER IMPENDING

At last count there were an estimated 3,456,001 and one-half Wiggensfields in Canada alone, however a state of emergency has not yet been proclaimed.

Soccer Squad Leads OSL

by ERIC VISSER

The McGill Soccer Squad took over the lead in the OSL league by beating their closest rivals, Loyola 2-0 on their home field. This win stretches their record to four wins and no losses with two games left to be played.

The McGill team, weakened by injuries, started strongly against the undefeated Loyola squad and soon took the lead when centre-forward Dave Freeman headed in a centre from left-half Dave Mostert. This early score seemed to fluster Loyola who thereafter had difficulties in getting their attacks organized. As a result, goalie Ian Henderson has few anxious moments and the half ended with McGill leading 2-0, Ubani scoring the second goal on a five man rush.

SECOND HALF

The second half was a poor excuse for soccer as a desperate and over-anxious Loyola squad began to introduce some of the barbarisms of football and basketball to the scene. The referee lost control and tempers flared when more than one Redman narrowly avoided serious injury. Rough play, however, had no effect on the score or captain Bill Mowatt's defence which held out until the end.

This coming weekend McGill invades Toronto for the second leg of their home-and-home total point series with the Blues. At stake is the OQAA championship and with a 2-1 edge the Redmen need a win or a tie to bring back the title which they regained last year.

Whether they make it or not depends to a great extent upon the health of the team as a whole, the return of Sirgoric to the forward line, and the support they get from those of you who will be in Toronto. The championship game will be played at 10:30 am Saturday on the U of T campus.

Two other highly rated young hopefuls are Ron Horeck and Jack Walker. Both boys played with the McGill Indians in the Intermediate league last year and are reputed
